

BELJONDE

Die göttliche Webseite
God's Own Website

Trump acquitted!

↳↑↳FMP AKVITJD!

It was to be expected: The hapless impeachment trial against US President Trump ended with his acquittal. This short text looks at the origin and the consequences of the process. We may well think that many people mainly had other problems in mind when they tried to bring down Trump urgently – the global warming crisis. But also this is not justified. People learn this from God's superior point of view.

Table of Contents

- 1. The eerie Inspiration of Sen. Mitt Romney
- 2. Why Democrats urgently tried to topple President Trump
- 3. News from the hidden Sources of our Inspiration

The New Way to Wisdom a short introduction into the Universal Truth Religion

Corrected Version 1.1

1. The eerie Inspiration of Senator Mitt Romney

When US-President Trump entered into the US Senate to deliver his speech, he didn't reach out a hand to Nancy Pelosi, lower house chairperson from the Democrats party. After the speech, the tiny but loud-mouthed adversary of the president grabbed the manuscript of Mr. Trump's speech and tore it apart! I guess even most sworn-in Democrats didn't like Nancy's scandalous show too well. And most of the voters must have preferred to watch Jennifer Lopez perform at the halftime show of the Superbowl event. This scandal was surely ominous for the outcome of the entire trial.

As it was to be expected, US president Donald Trump was acquitted by the Senate, from all charges in relation with the bribery allegations against Joe Biden and his family. The Senate even refused to summon and hear lots of witnesses and evidence. As it seems right now, the accusations that were raised against the president were partly true. There had indeed been talks about plans to refuse the Ukraine the military aid it demanded, to urge Ukrainian president Zelenskyy to firstly investigate into this alleged bribery scandal. But Zelenskyy said that Trump didn't put the pressure on him at all. And Trump said that he had not done what some of the former hard-liners of his team had proposed and advised him to do. We know him as a very cautious world leader when it comes to tough political or even military action, and he typically raises menaces who don't lead to a lot. His political adversary however, Joe Biden, definitely put the pressure on the Ukraine; when he tried to topple the Ukrainian prosecutor general, to stop him from investigating into the case of the extraordinary sum his son Hunter Biden received by some company.

Mitt Romney (to the left above) was the only senator who failed to support his party's president. That is not much of a problem though. It's what we should expect from our parliamentarians, that they should act and speak independently and courageously, and don't strictly keep to party lines and loyalties. However, if we read the testimony of Willard Mitt Romney, we must conclude that this man most probably judged wrongly. Mitt was misguided by the wrong kind of inspiration. At times Mitt used to even be a part-time bishop of his church, the Latter Day Saints. He now stated:

»We have arrived at different judgments, but I hope we respect each other's good faith.«

That was what Mr. Romney said before he spoke President Trump guilty of abuse of power, and judged to impeach him. In his speech of justification, he put much prone on his religious faith. So is the eery religion that Mr. Romney adheres really good? In fact Mr. Romney is a Mormon, and that's a religion also based on obvious lies and historical indecency. Their book is a fake, and the leading angel of the Mormons seems to be Moroni. We may best interpret this name with a look at the real angel Meron, chairman of the Alliance of Humanoid Earths. Or translate it as Moor. It was surely due to this eery religion, that Mr. Romney didn't win the presidential elections against the Negro Barack Obama. There indeed seems to be a powerful inspiration that racially pushes Negroes, also imaginary ones. We may very much doubt that the spirit who works this is truthful.

What remains of this bizarre case are the allegations against two Bidens. We may well think that Biden junior did earn an astronomic sum as income from some obscure firm in the Ukraine. So is this possibly bribery? Most Anglo-Americans and other westerners are already wont too to greedy »top dogs«, of managers who rid their companies of lots and lots of money. But if this is to be regarded as notorious misbehavior, then US-president Trump must have the best rights to raise a criminal investigation. He is after all the ruler and father of his nation. Such an investigation may well help against prejudices against Americans in many countries. Besides – here at the Cologne university I learned that in any ordinary case, the threat with trying to raise a criminal investigation cannot be illegal.

Most US-Americans don't care much about the misbehavior of greedy managers right now. That's just one aspect of our economic system. What interests them much more are the perspectives of the presidential candidates. Would independent candidate Bernie Sanders introduce socialism? In comparison to more down-to-earth candidates, it may seem that some deciders in the USA are not greedy enough, when it comes to defending their big wealthy nation against eery inspiration.

2. Why Democrats urgently tried to topple President Trump

So much about the candidates. But what are our perspectives when it comes to, already aged, President Trump? Even before the start of his term, many liberal to multicultural media and society people have raised protests against this president – because of his disliked policies. Right now many people on Earth worry firstly about the global climate. Many experts and deciders find it urgent to take action to bring down the overall level of carbon dioxide (CO₂) in the atmosphere. The tiny EU chairwoman Ursula von der Leyen (name in my translation) has vowed to completely reconstruct the economy of the EU, spending for this the astronomic sum of one billion Euros (now approximately 1.1 billion US$)! But president Trump didn't sign legislation to support these plans. Instead he and the US underwriters turned their backs to the International Climate Conference and other such panels. While the issue of global warming is permanently at the top of the common list of worldwide worries right now, many of those worried Democrats may have secretly thought that this is one main reason why they should try to bring down Trump – urgently.

We Earthlings live right now in an era of big planetary worries. The biggest worry of all is that of the drastic climate change that we are experiencing. Definitely the weather is getting warmer in many regions. That can be beneficial for many regions in high latitudes, we have these in Europe. Some experts say that this last ice age can't be declared over until the northern polar regions are completely void of inland ice. Many others however fear that any global warming will bring more bad weather and ecological problems. They just don't know such a warming from our immediate past, and they naturally fear the worst. Some climate pundits predict us constantly heavier storms in the Caribbean, as they stare onto their LED screens, replacing those traditional crystal orbs. It's due to the eyestorms who are generated there. Such cyclones could gain more force with warmer sea water. But right now these gloomy predictions just did not come true. Instead the hurricane season of 2019 produced a number of rather weak such cyclones. How can we explain that, and what force seems to regulate such storms? Most of our professional experts don't know and don't understand how little they compute such weather phenomena. Most of the time they like forget to realize that they don't know why all those cyclones are generated in a zone right east of the lower West Indies, the Windward Islands. One common explanation that elderly weather pundits give for this phenomenon is, that the cyclones and hurricanes are due to hot desert winds that originate from the Sahara. People who underwrite this theory don't even realize that very similar cyclones, the typhoons, regularly are generated right east of the Philippines. And out there at the very edge of our global ring of continents, there are no hot deserts and winds who may be regarded as the culprits! Twenty times or so each year, the Philippines are hit by such storms, who are in general even more severe than the hurricanes in the Caribbean. In the Caribbean however, the worst of such storms of last years were hitting places where many too many Negroes live. The worst of such storms of the recent times was Katrina, that inundated New Orleans. Then Haiti encountered two terrible hurricanes, who were followed by a disastrous earthquake. Also Dominica, one of the Windward Islands, was struck by unusual hurricanes. The USA however came across relatively lucky for a decade. The last hurricane seasons was no exception. So what is behind this? When old-time scientific experts get a hunch that they even fail to realize that there is so much that they don't understand of the science of our world, it is typical that many then get into religious fears.

Right now, US-President Trump seems to be in luck, even when it comes to the climate of the region. His good luck helped him to walk out as the winner in short time from this rather hapless impeachment trial. We meet here a phenomenon that many Americans of Irish and Celtic roots may well recognize. The king receives support from the people as long as he seems to be, moreless, in luck. While simple people, as well as influencers and even common priests, are hardly able to well distinguish between good and trickily misleading religious guidance and inspiration, the majority of the people always tends to hold on the person on the top, as long as he doesn't seem to be out of luck. It is though typical for the minorities of several groups, that they try to bring down this leading figure.

3. News from the hidden Sources of our Inspiration

Religion is a tricky field. People like Joseph Smith junior, the founder of the community today called LDS or Mormons, wasn't a complete liar. Joey jr. definitely had had visions. He encountered spirits and eery inspiration, who seemed to be that of angels. The lore of the LDS is better than others, when it comes to food and drugs. But the question is whether these spirits told Joey the truth or not. The Universal Truth Religion teaches that the truth is something that only the true Savior of this planet can eventually handle. It is me who was chose for this job. Many others were only fed up with strange fairy tales.

In the USA however, Christians still form the leading religious group. These commonly say that their god is Jesus. However, in the old Jewish Bible we read that the true name of God is JHWH. That may nicely be translated, letter to letter, into Jewa, ignoring the later and wrong vocal signs. Well, the UTR has it that Ga-Jewa is indeed the cosmic name of our Earth Goddess. Reality has a strange tendency to form clusters around such names. The consequence may be that names who sound similar gain a certain spell. And one such name that sounds similar to that of Jewa is Iowa! So it was no coincidence that just in this rather small state, the first ballots for the new candidate of a presidential race are casted. The Bible also has other names for God. Adonai simply means Lord. But Elohim is, strictly, a term meaning several gods, at least two. Also this name of God is not incorrect. The Goddess, her true Savior and the Spirit of Humankind can be also regarded as a divine trinity. Also, there are more such triples and people in outer space, closely connected to us. The UTR has it that in any good living planet, a congera lives who created it, a super-sized lent worm. But when it comes to God, many people don't look down to Earth right now, but they gaze up into the sky instead. Isn't our true god some person who is supposed to live up there, where the stars dwell? Religious people often don't understand much of our science. They don't realize how very far away those stars are away from here. But not only the UTR teaches that some ore many stars out there have populated planets who resemble our own. The next such planet is, according to my gentle worm below, a planet called Lar. There humanoids live, the descendants of gibbons.

The latest news from planet Lar are, that the entire star system rotates not towards our Northern Star of course. But it is tilted, by an rectangular angle of 31 degrees. Therefore Letas Star points a bit into the direction of the constellation of Auriga. That is not really good news. Right there are most of the stars of a local cluster of Greys of the family Ga. They are rotten like zombies and bring us bad destiny, and eventually will try to bomb us back into the stone age with celestial bodies. We are not alone with this troubled planet. Since Ga-Leta, the goddess worm of Lar, depends on our help, it may well seem to the humanoids of this planets, that they have the deities of their own planet as well as those of Lar too. Our good Earth Goddess must still tolerate some especially wrong and still rather functional religions, like those of the Mormons, to prevent our local living planets from developing too far apart from each others. Our place is like a condo of two planets.

So the impeachment trial is over, and it went well for the USA and all of America. Right now the public looks again out for candidates. Will they find a man or a lady who is brighter and better than Donald Trump is? We may well doubt this, since the leftists in all the world are just further away from the cosmic truth, and are in general less well able to handle it than good believers are. Another main point of accusation against President Trump may be that he has some kind of racial bias. But we may well find this very much okay, if we compare this to the stance of liberals who pretend to be insensitive for the different problems that different races have. Donald Trump is not a man to look away from the real troubles. Recently he visited Baltimore, harshly criticizing the deplorable state of some city quarters, who are predominantly populated by Afro-Americans. The typical white people of the USA rather try to avoid such topics, since there is little that they could or are willing to do. We have seen in Haiti that all the big help that was given there, in the wake of the hurricane and earthquake disasters, didn't lead to a lot. That is what often happens if older and incompetent people are in charge. When the First Lady went to Baltimore again, to speak to the angry crowd, she and her husband showed that right now, the Trumps care for Negroes too!

THE NEW WAY TO WISDOM

A new common Introduction into the Universal Truth Religion (UTR) / V.20 / 2018 a.

The very short Short Version

The UTR is now 25 years old. Secretly it became much better than old-time religions. In many old books old stuff can be found. It is fantastic to gruesome and often composed of lies. The UTR is oriented at facts. I teach things who are modern and must be correct. I was asked in year 1993 a. to become the savior, husband and advocate of the Earth Goddess. This good lady who created the Earth reveals all the secrets of the universe, only to me and by and by. The lore of the UTR is not in all parts based on evidence, but with the years scientific finds supported many teachings. The UTR sadly is only suitable for the young and well developed enlightened Children of Light, Nordic-Aryan whites. It's because Greys, cosmic she-devils, dull the minds of the people with N-rays. Greys direct us into disaster. Only with the help of God people get strong enough to take a stand. But God can only well direct Europids (aka Caucasians) near to the main line, those with good development perspectives. But even these right now cannot get far with their development.

This Earth has a Goddess, the white congera (Lentworm, super-lamprete) Sofia Ewa. She lives in the House of God (Betyle) right below of Eden (Aden), inside of her world that she created with very much effort. The Edda calls her Hel, I am her Odin. The common sense of all humankind unites to form the Holy Spirit. Thousands of half-way free to paradisaical earths of Humanoids (similar to us), Ducks, Frogs and others, are our »angels« and help us to develop. As the carrier people of the Realm of God, the Deutsche (Germans) were chosen. Lar is the name of another planet right behind Sirius. Ga-Leta directs it, her savior's name is Alfred. The leading culture of Lar is the Welsh culture, similar to our Anglo-American culture. The situation there forces us to have patience. All will get better when the two goddesses, in a few decades, incarnate as women.

Not a part of God are the Greys, half destroyed congeras within planets where creation absolutely failed. In our galaxy the Greys control approximately 850.000 often ruined Berk- (spider) planets. Their development plan, called Berk-OS, has it that planets are populated with six colored races, who compete ever harder. The Greys make evil use of this plan to work one cataclysm (a series of super catastrophes) after the other. The Greys send us N-rays, modulated pulsar rays. The Earth Goddess uses some kind of ray tree. The congeras appear masked, as gods, angels, devils, spirits, stars, celebrities, parents, animals, fantasy creatures. As nagging inner voices or unwise impulses of what to do, Greys perceptibly interfere into our thoughts. They make believers believe into fairy tales and go erroneous ways. Especially false is the creed that the dead will once resurrect or become spirits. The thoughts of confused people cause many mental disturbances. The Greys promote stupid and bad people and manipulate all behavior. Believers are supposed to bow before foolish oldsters, who are driven by megalomania as they spoil their own planets, in touch with the »angels of apocalypse«. Even God cannot make apes, demented people, bad coloreds and wicked wights get wise. In past ages only mysterious myths could lead people a bit onto the trace of God. Someone who grew too sly was met by bad destinies. The UTR's lore of wellness finally teaches how to resist to evil. That starts with a healthy and fresh nutrition with much protein. By getting cool and with the help of fitness sports at natural places, by way of distraction and making music, N-rays can be warded off. In the Reich of God soon all shall live fairly safely, well and happily. Only new humans of the main line are strong enough to correctly make use of God's wisdom. Our main target is it therefore, to cautiously let die out the lesser, off-species and colored people. The population of this world shall be reduced to about 16.8 million humans. For the golden Aesir of the future God will then be able to provide a much better help. They shall develop to Titans. They shall always remain young. They shall live nearly free of any suffering. With the help of divine wisdom we will transform our Earth into a happy paradise. Many wonders will then be possible, since God will have much time for few noble humans. That golden future justifies the efforts and sufferings of God and all the human species. Who else but the true God could have this in mind?